GUITEAU.

Prosecution Nearly

tions and Monologues. [SPECIAL BY TELEGRAPH TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

WASHINGTON, December 30th. - At 10 'clock Guiteau was led into Court by the Bailiffs. As he passed the table at which his counsel sat he paused a moment and whispered to Scoville: "If you will only keep quiet to-day I will laugh this case out

As soon as he reached the dock he shouted out: "Son e of the leading papers in America consider me the greatest fellow they have met in sometime. At 8 o'clock last night I received a telegram, which I will read for the edification of the audience and the American people : 'Mr. Charles J. Guiteau, Washington: All Boston sympathizes with you. You ought to be President. (Signed) A HOST OF ADMIRERS."

BLASPHEMOUS LANGUAGE. Pausing a moment, he branched off into rambling harangue, quoting Scripture and comparing himself to the "meek and lowly Jesus," who used plain language, though sometimes severe. "I have been accused of using too harsh language," he added, "but I the Legislature. take my pattern from the Saviour of man-kind. I shall submit my name to the next Republican Convention. I shall expect to be before it. There are only two men in the country who want me hurg. One is Judge Porter, who expects to get $5,000 from the Government if I am convicted; and the other is Corkhill, who expects to get bounced, and who knows that I am the cause of it."

The counsel for prosecution having entered,
Dr. Kempster took the stand, and Scoville resumed his cross examination. CONCERNING TEMPORARY INSANITY. The witness did not believe in temporary insanity, in the sense that persons could be insane and wholly recover from it in an hour. Witness was asked if he believed that Sickles was sane or insane when he shot Key? and replied: "I think he was sane, sir." Guiteau—The jury did not agree with you, sir. They thought that he was insane.

THE GOVERNMENT'S CASE NEARLY CLOSED Upon the witness leaving the stand, Cork-hill announced that he had but one more wit-ness to introduce on the part of the Government. He would like to hear from Scoville as to how much time he might want to conmight be had as to how much longer this ong-drawn-out trial would continue.

SCOVILLE HAS FOUND NEW WITNESSES. Scoville replied: "We have some witnesses whose names have been presented since we closed our case, and I shall ask the Court to permit us to have them sworn, and our reason will be upon the ground of newly-dis-covered evidence material to the case. I shall only ask your Honor to allow me to ask a few questions of these witnesses relative to indeendent facts not heretofore known to me." Fort Wingate, N. M., and about 100 tons WHAT THE DEFENSE DESIRES TO PROVE.

Scoville—We have evidence to offer relative to the state of the prisoner's mind just and ninety-two bundles of cuttings arrived at Willows last week. Davidge-Could you give us an idea how Such an immigration of cats was never much time you will want upon your rebuttal? Seoville—Several days; probably all of heard of at Lake Tahoe before. They come next week.

THE PROSECUTION ORIECTS Davidge-We must object, your Honor, to opening this case. cille insisted that he did not desire to delay the trial or consume the time of the Court, but the prosecution had consumed weeks with these expert witnesses, meeting with them nightly and conferring with them in the preparation of the case, and he did not propose to be cut short in the matter of SCOVILLE AND GUITEAU'S SOLICITUDE FOR

Scoville said he would renew, however, his proposition that the jury be allowed to separate and so to their homes, relying upon their than at any time for years. There is only

The body had the fiesh dried on only two men, and they the spawns of the medical profession, who could not even acknowledge that they believed in a God, had been found who would under oath declare their belief in the prisoner's insanity.

EARNEST REPLY FROM SCOVILLE. Scoville replied to Corkhill, and surprised everyone by making one of the best and most impressive speeches that has been heard in the Court-room since the opening of the trial. In earnest language he vindicated the conduct of the defense, and severely rebuked the course of the District Attorney in his "unseemly efforts to muzzle and drive the defense from the Court," and some manifestation of ap-plause followed the conclusion of his speech, out was quickly checked by the Court. Dr. John P. Gray, Medical Superintendent of the New York Lunatic Asylum, took the stand. The witness had made the study of insanity his business since 1850, and in that time had treated or investigated 12,000 cases of insanity. He had never seen a single instance where the only indication of insanity was the exhibition of immorality or wickedness. He did not believe in what had been only indication of insanity was the exhibition of immorality or wickedness. He did not believe in what had been called "moral insanity." It was impossible to discover the mental unity so as to locate the impairment of a moral nature that was not accompanied by intellectual deterioration. Insanity in itself had no more tendency to excite to crime than neuralgia or any other disease. It puts nothing new into a man's nature. It only perverts what is a ready there.

The witness at some length classified the Tendency to excite to crime than neuralgia or any other disease. It puts nothing new into a man's nature. It only perverts what is a ready there.

THE LETTER TO CAMERON.

Scoville thought that Guiteau's letter to Cameron was good evidence of the writer's insanity. But it really suggested nothing of the kind. What it did suggest was the instinct of a chronic mendicant and impostor, with whom a mixture of effrontery and servility had become second nature, and whose egotism was so inordinate as to make him regard as quite a commonplace and natural proposition, that which others would look upon as alike impudent and foolish. Given Guiteau's mental point of view, and it was perfectly natural that he should write to Senator Cameron and demand five hundred dollars from him. For, as we have several times pointed out, the distinguishing feature in Guiteau's character is the entire absence of moral perception. In his mind there has never been any feeling of remorse for the murder of President Garfield. From the first the sense of having at last achieved notoriety has been the dominant impression with him. He has at times been disturbed by fear, but never by regret, and though he has said if it was to do again, it is certain that the consequences of that crime have brought him the most complete satisfaction and enjoyment he has ever known. At present he only looks upon himself as one who is celebrated, and who has deserved the gratitude of the "stalwarts." He believes that they are deeply indebted to him. The only wonder is that he did instead of to Senator Cameron, for he holds that he made Arthur President, and that the latter ought to be at his service. And he has gone through life doing just the same kind of things. He has always him at his own estimate of his services, and he has never admitted the value of any other estimate. This is precisely what he did when, having written a silly and pithless political speech, he wanted to be paid to deliver it in New York, and next demanded a foreign mission or a consulship for his services. But this is not evidence of insanity. It is merely evidence that Guiteau is a somewhat exaggerated type of that class of men who go through life grasping at every thing, like hogs at a trough; who push and trample and thrust their worthless carcasses to the front, always demanding the best of what is going, and always entertaining the profoundest conviction that their merits entitle them to the best. We have all met many such men. They are very disagreeable and repulsive, but they He possesses indeed a kind of impish shrewdness which has nothing in common with the madness which can alone make

Anderson & Hamm, Of the LOW-RENT and LOW-PRICE STORE,

No. 924 J street, Near Tenth. as to our selling goods at prices that none of those Houses which pay large rent and have enormous expenses can possibly do. Thousands have visited the above House during the last three weeks. All have been conscious of the fact that ANDERSON & HAMM are doing as they advertise, and that their success is fully assured. Our motto is: "Not to advertise an article which we have not on hand, nor at a price we do not intend to sell it at." The following PRICE LIST is but a small sample of our bargains. The store should be visited to be appreciated, and we guarantee kind and careful treatment, and none will be urged to buy. Make no mistake—we have no connection with any other House. Shippers are apparently willing buyers at $1 65 for choice, though holders are anything but quick in responding. Within the past two er three days some good round parcels are said to have changed hands at $1 62½@1 65, the bulk of sales however, being at medium figures. Yome operaturs claim that $1 65 is less easy to obtain to-day, though we know that in more than one instance this figure was refused on 'Change. Millers are helping the situation slightly by moderate purchases. A parcel of 1,400 ctl strictly choice milling was placed this morning at $1 67½, and two lots or about 700 ctls each on the same account were taken at $1 65 \(\pi \) ctl. The only SAN FRANCISCO, December 30th-1 P. M. int were taken at $1 65 $ ctl. The only reported sales to the shipping interest to day were 1,300 ctls good at $1 62\frac{1}{2} and 1,000 do inferior at $1 51 \pi ctl. No. 1 is quotable at $1 65; No. 2, $1 57\frac{1}{2} @1 621 8 ctl.

Barley—Considerable attention has been given BARLEY—Considerable attention has been given this week to both feed and brewing. The former exhibits unmistakable strength, sales having been made to-day at an advance of 2½ on former rates. If stocks were less generally distributed we should probably have to chronicle a yet further advance in ice. Holders are anxious to learn the result of th myass as to the amount in the State at the close of ie year. Those who still have large supplies to dis-ose of are sanguine that the information will be vorable to the selling interest. Chevalier contitunes to keep in the background, meeting with no inquiry for a week. SUMMONS.

SUMMONS.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY OF SACRAmento—ss. In the Superior Court in and for said county. The People of the State of California to R. A. COLLYER, greeting: You are hereby notified that an action was commenced in the Superior Court of the county of Sacramento, State aforesaid, by the filing a complaint in the Clerk's office of said Court, on the 29th day of AUGUST, 1881, in which action NANCY COLLYER is plaintiff, and you are defendant. That the general nature of the action, as appears from said complaint, is as follows: To obtain a decree of this Court dissolving the bonds of matrimony existing between plaintiff and defendart, on the ground of failure to provide the plaintiff with the common necessaries of 1 fe, and that the plaintiff be allowed and authorized to resume her maiden name,
and for general relief; all of which is fully stated in complaint on file herein, and to which reference is hereby made. And you are hereby directed to appear and answer said complaint
within ten days from the service of this writ, exclusive of the day of service, if served on you in said county of Sacramento; and within thirty days, exclusive of the day of service, if served elsewhere
and you are further notified that unless you so appear and answer within the time above specified,
the plaintiff will take default against you and apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

In testimony whereof, I, Thomas H. Berkey, Clerk

to the Court for the least plaint.

In testimony whereof, I, Thomas H. Berkey, Clerk of the Court aforesaid, do hereunto set my hand and affix the seal of said Court, this 20th day of AUGUST, A. D. 1881.
